10 September 2026

OUR TERMS & CONDITIONS OF ENGAGEMENT

This document outlines the standard terms under this Engagement Letter and any additional work outside the initial Scope of Work.

1. SCOPE OF INSTRUCTIONS

Upon receiving your initial instructions, we will write to you to document the main elements of our engagement and inform you of any substantive changes that may arise later.

We will explain your and our responsibilities regarding the matter at the outset and, as necessary, during each engagement and agree upon the appropriate level of service.

Our advice, at the time it is given, will be based on our understanding of the relevant statutes, case law, and practice as they relate to the facts presented to us under your instructions. Any subsequent changes in law and practice may affect its conclusions. Unless we have expressly agreed with you to do so, we will be under no obligation to update our advice for any subsequent changes in the law or practice or any changes or omissions in the facts presented to us or in your instructions.

2. PERSONNEL

An Attorney will oversee all aspects of the firm's engagement with you.

Each matter will be assigned to a specific partner who will supervise any work done on your behalf. We will advise you of the name of that partner and, if different, the name and status of the person responsible for the day-to-day conduct of your matter. We will keep you informed about the progress of the matter and any issues that arise.

If we must instruct outside counsel, experts, agents, consultants, and/or foreign lawyers on your behalf, we will seek your consent in writing before instructing them.

3. CLIENT MONIES

We may occasionally request that you pay fees and disbursements due in the coming weeks or months. We may also receive sums of money from you to be held on your behalf, pending the completion of a transaction or the authorisation of a payment. We kindly request that you settle all interim bills in full so that the funds on the account are held pending the submission of our final bill. After the matter is resolved, we will return any balance to you, deducting any outstanding fees and disbursements.

All payments for our fees and disbursements, or any amounts otherwise held by us on the client's account, should be sent to us by cheque or to the bank account specified in the letter accompanying these standard business terms. Unless otherwise agreed, any funds we hold in your client account will be held at the bank specified in this Agreement.

Please notify us of any concerns or disputes regarding the bill.

4. PAYMENT BY OTHERS

Even when another party agrees to or is ordered to pay your costs, you are primarily liable for all our fees and disbursements as they become due. Payment of a bill cannot ordinarily be postponed because it is likely to be paid or should be paid by another person. However, we may assist you in recovering any amount payable by another person. Orders against other parties for payment of costs commonly involve only a contribution towards the total costs incurred, and recovery depends on the other parties' willingness and ability to pay.

If the matter is cancelled, terminated, or does not proceed after the file is opened, the Firm may deduct all owed professional fees, disbursements, bank charges, government fees, third-party costs, administrative handling, accounting, onboarding/KYC, and closing costs incurred before refunding any unused balance. Government fees, application fees, third-party costs, bank charges, and administrative handling costs are non-refundable once incurred.

5. ABORTIVE FEES

If you terminate your matter before the completion of the services outlined in our fee estimate, our closing time estimate ("Abortive Fee") will be based on the actual time spent on the matter, including any additional time required to conclude the matter. This is not intended to be a penalty. The time spent and the stage of the matter will be determined at SILQ's discretion. Abort Fees will be payable if you (your principal, agent, or nominee) end the assignment before completion. SILQ reserves the right to use our standard fee schedule in calculating the Abort Fees.

6. DISCHARGE AND WITHDRAWAL

You may terminate your instructions to us in writing at any time. We shall, however, be entitled to retain all your papers and documents until you owe us for our fees and disbursements, pursuant to section 5, above.

If we have a good reason, we may cease acting on your behalf. For example, if you do not pay a bill, fail to comply with our request for payment on account, or fail to give us adequate or acceptable instructions, including (but without limitation) where such instructions might result in us breaching any law or principle of professional conduct.

In contentious proceedings, if we have to make an application to the court to come off the record as solicitors acting on your behalf, then by your acceptance of these standard terms of business, you agree that service of any application notice, supporting documents, and any order made may be affected by our faxing or emailing them to you at the fax number or email address last notified to us or otherwise known to us. Such documents will be deemed served on you on the date of transmission.

If you require us to advise on an ad hoc basis after terminating our relationship, please note that you will be liable for our hourly fees and disbursements as advised.

7. EVIDENCE OF IDENTITY

Before accepting instructions, we must obtain evidence of your identity and any beneficial owners of your company or organisation (defined as owners with at least 25% ownership). This mandatory review requires you to provide us with certain information and documents.

We are required by law to take reasonable steps to:

i. Positively establish your identity;
ii. Understand the nature of your activities (with the primary goal to ensure that the source and use of funds are legitimate);
iii. Assess money laundering risks.

In certain circumstances, we must disclose to the relevant authorities information regarding transactions (and the parties involved) that may raise suspicions of money laundering, the funding of terrorist activities, or other serious criminal conduct.

In some matters, we will, with your prior authorisation, instruct one or more external counsel to assist us with your case. In such cases, the external counsel shall also be entitled to carry out any due diligence required by Know Your Client regulations as the external counsel sees fit.

We require a formal onboarding process for all clients, and it is a condition of our engagement that you provide a complete and accurate disclosure during this review. We also expect you to update us if this information changes.

8. CONFLICTS OF INTEREST AND CONFIDENTIALITY

Before accepting instructions, we will conduct an internal conflict search to ensure that, to the best of our knowledge and belief, we have no conflict of interest that would affect our actions. We will contact you immediately if we identify any such conflict.

Professional rules regarding conflicts of interest bind us, and a situation may arise in which we must cease acting on your behalf due to a conflict of interest.

You acknowledge that, even when no conflict exists, there may be occasions when we act for, or become aware of, information regarding other clients in a similar business or whom you may consider your competitors.

We will be under no duty to disclose any information to you where such a disclosure would be a breach of confidence owed to another client or third party, whether that client or a third party may be one of your competitors or otherwise.

We must maintain clients' affairs in confidence unless disclosure is required or permitted by law or with the client's consent. You consent to us disclosing in confidence relevant information relating to you and your affairs to our professional indemnity insurers (if and as required by them). You also consent to us disclosing relevant Information about you and your affairs to persons to whom we outsource the provision of any of our services to you, subject to their confirming their obligation to keep such information confidential.

9. YOUR CONTRIBUTION AND REASONABLE TIMELINES

Your prompt, precise, and accurate response to our requests for information and instructions will enable us to provide you with a more cost-effective and timely service. We outline the terms of our engagement based on all communications and requests for information, which we expect to be returned promptly and in a reasonable manner. Failure to do so may result in additional statutory and filing charges. Failure to respond reasonably, despite multiple requests, may lead to SILQ terminating your matter and applying Abortive Fees and other charges to your account.

10. PAPERS AND DOCUMENTS

All papers, documents, and correspondence, whether in hard copy or electronic form, which we prepare or receive in the course of our services, shall belong to us, except for any original papers and documents provided to us by you, original signed agreements the production of which was the object of our services, and the correspondence (and any enclosures which belong to you) received by us on your behalf from any third party. Any copies we make of your documents shall belong to us.

We may retain all papers, documents, and correspondence in our possession (whether owned by you or us) and relate to your matters electronically, even if these were received by us or created in paper form.

We are entitled to retain all or any such papers, documents, and correspondence (which belong to you) until our fees and disbursements are paid in full.

We will retain all or any such papers, documents, and correspondence (except for those that belong to you) for at least seven years after the date of our final bill for the matter concerned. Still, thereafter, we may destroy all or any such papers, documents, or correspondence without further reference to you.

If we retrieve papers, documents, or correspondence from storage or archives concerning ongoing or new instructions to act in your affairs, we will typically not charge for the retrieval. However, we reserve the right to pass on the cost of urgent retrieval from off-site storage.

However, we may otherwise make a charge based on our time spent and/or on third-party n connection with the production of papers, documents, or correspondence to you or another at your request (including as to retrieval of material, in hard copy and/or electronic form, from storage archive and/or systems and review of such material for the production of such papers, documents or correspondence as belonging to you).

We may also charge for reading, correspondence, or other work necessary to comply with the instructions you gave or on your behalf.

11. ELECTRONIC COMMUNICATIONS

Our external email is transmitted over the Internet and is not encrypted. Accordingly, its security and confidentiality cannot be guaranteed. Further, the internet operation cannot guarantee that an email you send to us will reach us or its intended recipient. Similarly, we cannot guarantee that our email will reach you. You should confirm the safe receipt of urgent or sensitive emails by contacting us by telephone. Similar considerations apply to fax communications. Unless you instruct us otherwise, you agree that we may correspond with you or on your behalf by email. You accept that such communications may not be secure or confidential, that they may not necessarily reach their intended recipient, and that we cannot accept responsibility for any loss that you may suffer because of the use of email for communication. Similar considerations apply to fax communications.

Where we receive instructions or information via email, you accept that we shall be entitled reasonably to proceed on the basis that such communications are authentic and that we cannot accept responsibility for any loss that you may suffer because of a breach of any information security system other than our own.

Unless you advise us to the contrary, if you contact us by email or fax, we shall assume that you request us to correspond with you by email and fax, respectively, on the basis that you will accept responsibility for any loss you may suffer. The contents of any email sent to you are subject to these standard terms of business; anything that does not relate to the official business of the Firm is neither given nor endorsed by it.

Except where expressly agreed by us, communications with you through systems other than the Firm's systems (such as through instant messaging systems or other social media), where no record of the communications is maintained on the Firm's systems, are not to be treated as legal advice given by the Firm and no reliance may be placed on such communications. Such communications are transmitted through the Internet, and their security and confidentiality cannot be guaranteed.

Although we regularly conduct virus checks on our computer systems and data, as well as data and communications received electronically, we recommend that you perform virus checks on all your systems, data, and communications (whether on a computer disk, email, internet, or otherwise). We accept no responsibility for viruses that may enter your system or data by these or other means.

12. DATA PROTECTION

We may process your data, as well as any other data we receive in connection with your matters, including the personal data of your employees or representatives, as reasonably necessary to comply with your instructions or to enhance our services. In this connection, we may also disclose such personal data to other parties or transfer it outside of Thailand, but only if and to the extent reasonably necessary for those purposes.

We may also process personal data to inform you of our activities and keep you updated on relevant legal or other events that may be of interest to you. In this connection, we may disclose personal data to associated international offices, law firms, or third parties with whom we conduct joint marketing exercises. Please let us know in writing if you do not want us to disclose your personal data for the marketing purposes described in this paragraph.

You are responsible for ensuring that your employees or representatives have given their consent to us processing their data under this paragraph before disclosing it to us.

13. PROFESSIONAL LIABILITY

We will perform our work with reasonable care and skill and acknowledge that we will be liable to you for losses, damages, costs, and expenses ("losses") caused by our negligence or default, subject to the following provisions of Sections 14 and 15.

You agree to the extent that such an agreement is enforceable under applicable law and regulations and that there is no acceptance or assumption of a personal duty of care by SILQ. You shall not bring any claim (whether in contract, tort, or otherwise) against anyone other than SILQ regarding loss or damage you suffered arising out of or in connection with any matter you instruct us. You shall not bring any claim against any partners, employees, consultants, and officers (or former partners, employees, consultants, and officers) of SILQ.

Except as stated in Section 14, we shall have no other liability of any nature, whether in contract, tort or otherwise, for any loss whatsoever and howsoever caused arising from or in any way connected with our acting for you on any matter.

We will not be liable to the extent that any losses are due to the provision of false, misleading, or incomplete information or documentation or to the acts or omissions of any person other than a partner or employee of the Firm.

We will not be liable for any indirect or consequential loss or damage (whether for loss of profit, loss of business, depletion of goodwill or otherwise), costs, expenses, or other claims for consequential compensation whatsoever (howsoever caused) which arise out of or in connection with our contract with you.

Nothing in this section shall impose any additional liability (in amount or nature) to what we would have if this section were absent. Furthermore, this section will not preclude any defence we would have if this section were not present.

Nothing in these standard business terms shall exclude or restrict (or prevent suit in respect of) any liability arising from fraud that cannot lawfully be limited or excluded.

Unless and to the extent that they have been caused by our fraud, wilful default, or negligence:

i. You will indemnify us on demand and hold us harmless against all losses, claims, demands, charges, and liabilities (and actions, investigations, and other proceedings in respect thereof) whatsoever and howsoever caused relating to or arising directly or indirectly out of or in connection with our acting for you; and
ii. You will reimburse us for all costs and expenses (including legal and other professional fees) that we incur in connection with investigating or defending any such claim or proceeding or exercising any remedy relating to or arising directly or indirectly out of or in connection with our acting for you.

Where we are liable to you and another person (such as a professional adviser) is also liable to you for the same matter or item, any limitation of liability will not increase our liability to you if you have agreed with that other person or because of your inability to recover from that other person beyond what it would have been had no such limitation been decided and if that other person had paid its share. Without prejudice to the preceding provision of this subparagraph (i), if, as a result of any exclusion or limitation of liability agreed by you with any other person, the amount for which we can claim contribution against such other person in connection with any claim by you against us arising out of or in connection with the engagement is reduced, our liability to you for such claim shall be reduced by the amount by which the amount for which you are entitled to claim from such other person is reduced.

References in this section to "we," "us," and "our" shall be deemed to include references to the partners, employees, consultants, and officers (or former partners, employees, consultants, and officers) of SILQ.

You agree that you have fully considered the provisions of this section and that they are reasonable considering all the factors relating to our acting for you.

This section shall survive the termination of our retainer under these standard business terms.

14. LIMITATION OF LIABILITY

Our aggregate liability, whether to you or any third party, of whatever nature, whether in contract, tort, or otherwise, for any losses (including interest and legal costs) whatsoever and howsoever caused arising from or in any way connected with each matter shall not exceed the total professional fees paid by you or, if different, the amount stated in the letter accompanying these standard terms of business and giving details of the matter on which we are instructed or, as the case may be, set out in any future letter which details a matter on which we are instructed. For this purpose, all claims concerning a matter arising from the same act or omission or one series of related acts or omissions will be regarded as one claim.

You agree that you have fully considered the provisions of this section and that they are reasonable in light of all the factors relating to our acting for you.

Nothing in this section shall impose any additional liability (in amount or nature) to what we would have if this section were absent. Furthermore, this section will not preclude any defence we would have if this section were not present.

This section shall survive the termination of our retainer under these standard business terms.

15. QUALITY ASSURANCE AND COMPLAINTS

We are committed to delivering high-quality legal advice and client care. If you are unhappy with any aspect of the service you received or any bill we have rendered, please address your concerns to your Client Relationship Manager.

16. SOLICITATION OF EMPLOYEES

If twelve (12) months from the date of this Agreement, the Client hires, directly or indirectly through a related party, a current or a former employee who provided services to the Client in the preceding twelve (12) months, the Client agrees that SILQ will suffer damages and losses, but that the amount of this loss will be difficult to determine. Accordingly, the Client agrees that, for each hire by the Client, the Client will reimburse SILQ for this loss, an amount equivalent to twelve (12) months' salary of the said hire at the date of the hire.

17. PROFESSIONAL DISCLOSURE

SILQ is a limited company incorporated under the Civil and Commercial Code of the Kingdom of Thailand. The directors are located on our website at www.SILQlaw.com. SILQ and each of its directors confirm that during the previous five years from the date of this disclosure, no director has been convicted of an offense, adjudicated bankrupt, prohibited by law or a court from taking part in the management of a company or a business, the subject of an adverse finding by a court in any proceeding brought against SILQ or the director in its/his professional capacity expelled from, or has been prohibited from being a member of a professional body.

18. ASSIGNMENT OF RIGHTS AND THIRD PARTIES

Unless expressly stated otherwise, nothing in these standard business terms confers rights on a third party.

Except as expressly provided by law, no other person may rely on the advice we give you, and we accept no responsibility for any other person. You will not provide our advice to any other person without our written consent.

19. LAW AND JURISDICTION

These standard business terms, our agreement, and any non-contractual obligations arising from or in connection with them are subject to and shall be construed in accordance with the laws of Thailand.

By instructing us and/or expressly accepting these standard terms of business, you agree that, for our benefit, the courts of Thailand shall have exclusive jurisdiction to determine any dispute or difference arising between us, and you will not argue to the contrary, save that we may, at our option, bring a claim against you in any other court of competent jurisdiction.

We may refer any dispute or difference between us to arbitration, and you agree to this. Any arbitration we commence will be conducted under the auspices of the Thailand Arbitration Centre ("THAC"), whose rules are hereby incorporated by reference into this agreement, subject to our filing a request for arbitration with the THAC registrar. The seat of the arbitration shall be Thailand, and the language of the arbitration shall be English.

The number of arbitrators shall be one. Any arbitral decision will be final and enforceable. Evidence will be subject to the IBA Rules for taking evidence. Each party will bear its own costs.